

NEW WITNESS HITS SHEPHERD

SECOND DEFEAT PREDICTED FOR
WARREN TODAY

Senate Gets Ready to Adjourn.

With the United States senate engaged in its session, the approaching adjournment of the special senatorial session develops two subjects of political and financial interest:

It is freely predicted about Washington that Charles Beecher Warren again will fail of confirmation as attorney general when the matter comes to a vote today in the senate.

While the senate is in extraordinary session house leaders develop conflict over the nation's finances. Madden declares economy has been pressed to the limit and that government expense must now exceed. Green optimistically declares $300,000,000 should be cut from income taxes in 1926. Full report will be found on page 3.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special]—After a brief but hectic session the new senate plans to adjourn early this week.

If nothing unforeseen develops, the senate will dispose of the nomination of Charles B. Warren of Michigan for attorney general tomorrow, notwithstanding pending nominations, and end its special session tomorrow night.

CHARLES B. WARREN.

It is possible, however, that President Coolidge will submit tomorrow some further nominations, and if any controversy develops the senate may continue in session for another day or two.

Round Up Every Senator.

Ahost senators called back to Washington, were being lined up today by the Republican Warrenites and the Democratic anti-Warrenites. This, however, aroused little interest, as even President Coolidge's most loyal senatorial supporters admitted the nomination would be rejected by a majority of at least four. When the senate, in the accordance with an agreement reached Saturday night, votes on it at 10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Democratic leaders of the senate, if possible, to frustrate the Republican program for a final adjournment tomorrow evening, their object being to lay the foundation of coming legislation by the dignity of Mr. Warren's name under a recent appointment.

Some of them said tonight the legislation would cover only "a reasonable day or two" to give the president the opportunity of submitting another name for attorney general.

Sargent May Be Chosen.

The impression exists that if Mr. Warren takes himself out of consideration the president will offer the attorney generalship to John G. Harlan, former attorney general of Indiana.

Senator La Follette returned today from Florida to vote against confirmation. His colleague and ardent enemy, Senator Lenroot, was called back from the Senate by his wife at Rochester, Minn. He will line up with the administration supporters.

Senator Coolidge was intercepted on his way to his home in Idaho and has turned back. He voted to confirm Warren last week. Some senators are in town, or on their way there, to prevent him, but when the Warrenites are taken tomorrow, every member of the Senate Underwood (Denn.) will be present or have his presence protected by the system of pairings.

No Bounds of Battle.

Today's session which began at 9 a.m. has been marked by a clash between the senate and the vice president, the demolition of La Follette's resolutions in making up committee assignments, controversies over the income tax case and the Commerce legislation, the internal revenue bill, and a test of strength between the president and the Senate over his right to select men as he may please to sit in his cabinet.

Warren's vote on Warren is expected to result in a final resolution of the Senate by President Coolidge that intends to offer Warren a recess appointment. If confirmation is again rejected his supporters of the administration and a resolution of renunciation's defeat in the Senate.

An anti-soviet demonstration in the Garrick theater into a mob in which twenty persons were hurt, at least as many seized by the police, and a hundred police reserves and detectives were needed to quell the riot.

For more than two hours police fought with the crowd. The chief speaker, envoy of the Kerensky partisans, never had time to say more than a sentence without starting the fighting again. Toward the end the police chief subdued the rioters and Raphael Abramovitz, the speaker, was able to talk briefly.

The Reds ruled at the last. The moment the curtain went down they surged into the aisles and without attempting to leave the theater raised their voices in a thunderous howl of their song, "The Internationale."

POLICE MAKE ANOTHER RAID.

Again flying squadrons of bluecoats and plain clothes men, in wedge formation, plowed their way through the crowd before they were able to clear the building.

In the street the rioting started again. Screaming women protested against "American Comies" rule and fought and scratched the policemen.

Again flying squadrons of bluecoats and plain clothes men, in wedge formation, plowed their way through the crowd before they were able to clear the building.

Again the police scattered the crowd. The mob, muttering, moved up on Randolph street, and clustered around the four corners of Randolph and Clark streets. It was an hour more before they were sent home.

Anti-soviet leaders in the Garrick audience made the direct charge that the riot was inspired by soviet propagandist chiefs in America and that it was an organized effort to break up the meeting.

The Garrick meeting was arranged by the Chicago Jewish Socialist party. Its purpose was to raise funds for a police telephone, while thousands surged around him on the sidewalk and in Randolph street, blocking street and car traffic for thirty minutes.

"On with the great American revolution!" was the tenor of his message, a message received with shouts.

FILTH OF DRAMA AND LITERATURE FLAYED BY CARDINAL HAYES

New York, March 15.—[Special]

Present day immorality upon the stage and in literature was condemned today by Cardinal Hayes.

How important it is, Cardinal Hayes said, that the eternal principles of right and wrong, the principles enunciated by God to Moses and the lawgiver Moses, and the divine love of the Son of God be adhered to.

Child Tries to Save Her.

In the evening Bold removed the quarrel. Mrs. Bold threatened to leave him and take the children, ranging in age from 3 to 13 years, with her. Then she went to a bedroom to undress the children for the night.

Bold followed, brandishing a revolver and shouting: "You will never leave this room if I can help it!"

Stanley, 10 years old, jumped in front of the enraged man, screaming: "Don't you shoot my mamma." Bold, with a broomstick, knocked the child down and beat him. Then he turned the child to his wife again. She picked up the youngest child, Mildred, 3, and said soothingly:

"Don't shoot your baby, Joe."

Stanley with Baby in Arms.

For answer he seized his wife by the arm, whirled her around, and shot her in the back as she still held the child. He fired three times, each bullet hitting the woman. Then he turned the gun on himself.

"My friends," he started in Hebrew, and then started the communists.

"Down with the traitor," screamed a woman in the gallery, showering programs and Red literature into the pit. Trouble had started. Three stout policemen at the door looked at each other nervously. One of them slipped to a phone.

The riot was on. A dozenights before, the Communists had started the Garrick theater into a mob in which twenty persons were hurt, at least as many seized by the police, and a hundred police reserves and detectives were needed to quell the riot.

"She lived in that home the better part of her life," said Mr. Pion. "She was married there and the biggest events of her life occurred there. She insisted she would remain in that room until her death."

FLORENCE, Italy, March 15.—Despite the press censorship, equalized only by the Bolsheviks, THE TRIBUNE is able to give a third sensational document which is presented as evidence in the Italian Supreme court in the trial for the murder of Deputy Matteotti, millionaire Socialist, and upon which Premier Mussolini's future also greatly hangs. This document supplements the Rossi documents, publication of which led to the arrest of one of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's Rome representatives. The present document is known throughout Italy as the famous Filippelli memorandum, publication of which would mean immediate arrest and trial of any Italian editor.

GOVERNMENT TO COST MORE FROM NOW ON: MADDEN

Not to Limit, He Says, and Nation is Growing.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special]—Government expenditures have been cut to almost the lowest point possible under post-war conditions and increases rather than decreases are likely from now on, Representative Martin B. Madden (Rep., Ill.), chairman of the house appropriations committee, declared today in a review of the appropriation record of the recent congress.

Mr. Madden showed that total appropriations made by congress in the last session amounted to $3,925,921,277, or $11,125, less than budget estimates.

Heavy Drain on Treasury.

Of this total $3,276,000,000 is for the post year 1926. Deducting from this sum $26,000,000 for the postal service, payable from postal revenues and $37,000 payable from the revenues of the District of Columbia, the charge upon the treasury will amount to $3,239,000,000.

The total appropriated during the year was less by $24,921,749 than the total of all appropriations a year ago.

Representative Byrne (Dem., Tenn.), minority member of the appropriations committee, in a statement made public today, took exception to Madden's claim that the government is being operated on an economical basis.

He Says It's Mounting.

Byrne declared that the cost of ordinary peace time activities of the government is steadily increasing, and that such increases as have taken place during the last few years have been due to the abandonment of war activities.

The appropriations just made, he pointed out, were based on the fourth set of estimates submitted by President, under the budget system.

In the four years, he said, congress has reduced budget estimates by an aggregate of $46,240,390. Of this amount $313,861,792 was cut from the estimates in the first year, $10,741,564 in the second year, $12,111,246 in the third year, and $11,125,847 in the fourth year.

The Sixty-eighth congress passed several new laws which will require increased outlays to carry them into execution, Madden said. "The new postal act approved at the close of the session will require additional annual appropriations of $65,000,000.

Must Get More Money.

While this increased cost will largely be met through the increased rates, the total of the appropriations will necessarily be increased to meet the salaries. Further appropriations must be made at the next session to supplement these funds now used for the new postal service.

Other new laws which will require additional appropriations distributed over a series of years follow:

"River and harbor improvement act, $100,000; Arlington Memorial bridge

For Afternoon Wear

GREEN PREDICTS ANNUAL TAX CUT OF $300,000,000

Citizens May Get Benefit in Next Year's Levy.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special]—An aggregate tax reduction of $300,000,000 annually is in prospect in the next session of congress, according to Representative W. R. Green (Rep., Ill.), chairman of the house ways and means committee.

Mr. Green predicted there will be a surplus of more than $100,000,000 at the end of the present fiscal year, or more than $20,000,000 in excess of the treasury estimate. [Harris & Ewing.] He thought the surplus for the fiscal year 1926, however, might be somewhat less than the $373,000,000 estimated.

Unless there is a hitch in the program, Mr. Green believes the tax reductions can be made effective in time for the March 15 payments of next year. He plans to call the ways and means committee together to commence the consideration of a new revenue bill about Oct. 15. A bill will be perfected and ready to introduce in the house when congress convenes in December.

Mr. Green declared himself for a reduction of the maximum surtax rate to 25 per cent, as proposed by Secretary Mellon.

Poles Demonstrate Before British Warsaw Legion

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service]

WARSAW, March 15.—[Ullstein.]—The poles have again demonstrated their break up demonstrations before the British legation here. They were the outgrowth of a meeting called to protest against the German proposal for arbitration of the eastern frontier question in its offer to the allies of a Rhine security pact.

The bill authorizing construction of much needed public building facilities throughout the country, and in Washington did not pass. It authorized $150,000,000, with the restriction that not more than $25,000,000 would be expended annually. Provisions must be made at the next session to cover the public building situation, in which there is already an acute shortage of space in many localities.

Very Little Provided Now.

Toward carrying out these acts there has been appropriated at this session $800,000 for the Arlington bridge and $27,000,000 toward the naval programs. The remainder of the authorization will be a charge on the appropriations to be made in the future.

OUTLYING WARDS WILL BENEFIT IF CAR BILL CARRIES

Tables Show Construction Work Planned.

BY OSCAR HEWITT

For the enormous construction program contemplated under the traction ordinance to be voted upon April 7. In the fourteen outlying wards, each of which touches the city boundary on the south, west or north, the ordinance provides for a construction program in both miles and money as follows:

	Miles.	Cost.
Wards.	211.36	$ 26,470,000
Numbered	118.12	110,250,000
Others	5.54	15,450,000
Total	331.70	$16,420,000

To obtain a gauge by which this expenditure may be measured, it is sufficient to indicate that all of the transportation facilities in those four wards in both surface and elevated lines have an appraised value at present of $21,054,000. These wards are selected because they are as much in need of transit facilities as the now have. In a word, if the ordinance program is carried out they will have facilities of an estimated cost of $234,000 instead of $21,054,000.

Mileage in Each Ward.

Perhaps the mileage by wards would convey a more definite and satisfying impression. A table showing the miles of surface, elevated and subways to be built under the ordinance in each ward follows:

Ward.	Surface Miles.	Elevated Miles.	Subway Miles.
10	13.44	8.78	.....
11	10.40	4.50	.....
12	25.67	7.20	.....
13	18.12	6.12	.....
14	12.47	22.38	.....
15	12.51	12.72	.....
16	12.00	1.40	.....
17	2.00	1.40	.....
18	12.22	2.20	0.20
19	22.75	12.12	.....
20	22.77	12.00	.....
21	8.00	0.48	.....
22	16.00	0.24	.....
23	0.00	.....	0.40
Total	331.70	118.12	5.54

These are all the wards bordering on the city limits, starting at the Indiana state line on the south and circling around to the Evanston boundary at Lake Michigan. While some wards obtain more than others, the object was to get a comprehensive system for the city as a whole rather than build a certain mileage in each ward.

Translating the mileage of the three

TRACTION MEETINGS TODAY

The following five meetings, at which the mayor or a city lawyer will explain the railway ordinance on which a referendum will be taken April 7, are scheduled today and tonight:

Morgan Park Methodist church, 110th street and Longwood drive, 7:45 p. m. Mayor Dever and Ald. D. W. McKinlay speaker.

Auburn Park Masonic temple, 7822 South Union avenue, 8 p. m. Mayor Dever and Ald. D. W. McKinlay speaker.

Smythe Cronk Lodge, Masonic temple, 100 South Wabash avenue, 8 p. m. Corporation Counsel Busch speaker.

Capitol building, room 600. Public Ownership League, 8 p. m. Assistant Corporation Counsel C. Morton Doty, speaker.

No opposition meetings have been announced.

It will be more interesting to compare the present facilities in each ward with what there would be if all the provisions of the ordinance are carried out. On that basis the appraised value of the present facilities is compared in the following table with the total investment after the ordinance provisions have been consummated:

Ward	Value now, consummated	Value
1	$ 7,261,000	$ 17,450,000
2	5,700,000	10,901,000

ably be more interesting to compare the present facilities in each ward with what there would be if all the provisions of the ordinance are carried out. On that basis the appraised value of the present facilities is compared in the following table with the total investment after the ordinance provisions have been consummated:

The following five meetings, at which the mayor or a city lawyer will explain the railway ordinance on which a referendum will be taken April 7, are scheduled today and tonight:

Morgan Park Methodist church, 110th street and Longwood drive, 7:45 p. m. Mayor Dever and Ald. D. W. McKinlay speaker.

THIEVES DRESS VICTIM'S WOUND; LOOT BUILDING

Three young men with guns approached him.
Watchman Disloys, Shot.
"Go inside," they commanded and Galvin complied.
When Jamison, 42, of 2650 Rhodes Avenue, a colored watchman, entered, the robbers commanded him to stand and raise his hands, but he refused and started to run. He fell within ten feet, a bullet in his right hip.

"And if you try anything funny you'll get the same," they told Galvin as the smoke cleared away. "In there anyone else in the building?" Galvin told them. George Moore, a foreman, who lives at 5409 Union Avenue, was on the third floor. "We went up and captured Moore," they said. They brought him to the first floor and held a negotiation.

"Now, mister," they said to Jamison, "we got you into this scrape and we don't want you to die; is there anything here to treat this wound with?"

Dress Victim's Wound.

The robbery was in the plant of Strauss-Schramm & Co., mail order house, with a factory and shipping room in the central manufacturing district, 1105 West 35th street.

Leo F. Galvin, the night engineer, was standing in front of the building early yesterday morning waiting for the day watchman to come on duty.

The robbers then tried to open the safe, but were unsuccessful in breaking off the doorframe, so they carried off the thousands of watches and put them in two big suitcases and started for the door.

"We're not going to leave you boys here all day," one thief said as he opened the door. "When we get far enough away we'll phone the police."

Thousands of mothers say this solves problem of children's mealtimes drink!

Children love Instant Postum made this new way... they get all the nourishment of milk, plus roasted wheat and bran

YOU know how much children like to have the same drink as the "grown-ups." You know, too, how many of them do not like the taste of milk—and you are right in thinking they should have a warm drink, particularly before starting to school on raw mornings.

Give them Instant Postum, made with hot milk instead of the usual boiling water. It is prepared instantly in the cup. Think! They get the nourishing milk they need, plus the elements of wheat. Postum is made of whole wheat and bran, roasted to bring out the full rich flavor of the golden grain. It has a taste which every child likes immediately. Made with milk, it is really a wonderful drink—a complete and perfect food for children—so easy to digest, filled with zest and energy!

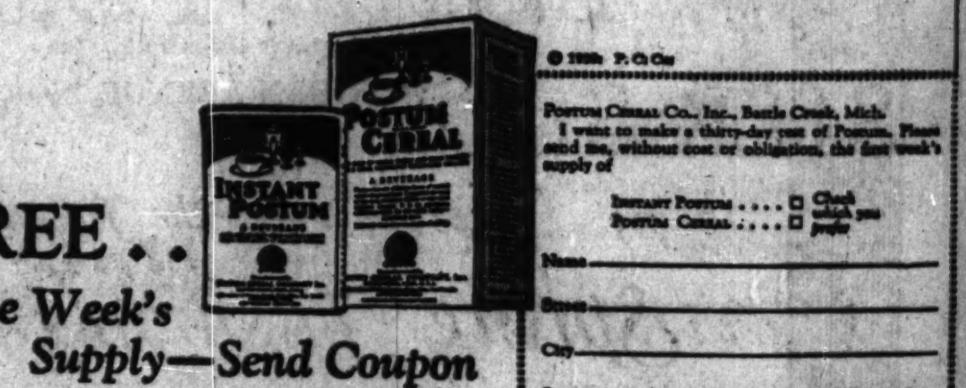

Most people are wise enough to deny coffee to children, even though they think they can stand it themselves. They know that the drug caffeine, which is found in coffee, is particularly vicious in its action on the delicate nervous system of a child. Time after time, investigations have proved that children who drink coffee average less in height, less in weight, and lower in their school lessons, than children who use no coffee.

Yet cold winter days call for a hot drink—a drink which cheers the body and makes the meal more appetizing. Now every child can have such a drink, with only good effects! Give them Instant Postum made with milk.

Another important point—Postum costs much less per cup, than most other drinks. It has everything in its favor—wholesomeness, ease of preparation, and economy.

We want you to make a thirty-day test of Postum for your children—and for yourself, too, if you will be so wise. We will give you, free, your first week's supply, and have Carrie Blanchard, famous food demonstrator, send you her own directions for preparing it.

Or if you wish to begin today, you can get Postum at your grocer's. For the week's free supply, fill out the coupon, indicating whether you want Instant Postum (which can be prepared either with hot milk or boiling water), or Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Send the coupon now!

AUTOS CLAIM 2 LIVES; DRIVER MAKES GETAWAY

Two persons were killed in automobile accidents yesterday, bringing the death toll for the first seventy-four days of the year to 119.

Miss Nina Muir, 42 years old, cashier at the Virginia hotel, was run down by a coupe as she was crossing Michigan boulevard at Walton place.

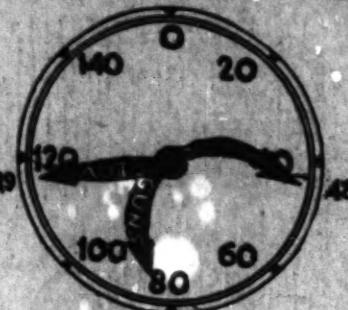

The automobile did not stop and witnesses were unable to obtain the license number. Miss Muir died in the Henrotin Memorial hospital.

Harmon Wilson, 25 years old, 3244 West Huron street, was fatally injured when the automobile in which he was riding with his wife skidded into a post in Melrose Park.

Thomas Harrison, 2000 West Lake street, Miss Marion Brown, 18, 265 Central avenue, and Miss Marie Daniels, 18, 2721 West Lake street, were cut and injured. Their hurts were treated at the Oak Park hospital, where Wilson died.

FIND NO CLEWS TO SLAVERS OF DR. G. J. GORDON

Investigation yesterday of the mystery slaying of Dr. George J. Gordon, 708 Independence boulevard, just after the physician had left the home of a patient at 3128 Larabee street, left police completely mystified as to a motive. Dr. Gordon was shot dead by two unidentified men as he was starting his car after paying a professional call upon Peter Sorcs at the Larabee street number.

After several hours of questioning of Sorcs and his young wife, detectives declared they were at a loss for a clew. All attempts to trace the two assassins failed, although a number of residents of "Little Italy" were along the street near the scene of the tragedy at the time.

According to one theory, Dr. Gordon assumed professional jealousy in the neighborhood by working up lucrative cut rate practice among the Italian folk. Another was that it was a case of mistaken identity.

STOP POLLUTING THE LAKES.

Secretary Weeks of the war department charged Chicago a stiff price for its health protection. There was nothing easy in the conditions made for the withdrawal of water for a limited period in sufficient quantity to keep the Chicago water supply free from sewage.

Mr. Weeks required that it raise its sanitary district taxes and build sewage reduction plants. The estimated cost of the treatment system is $54,000,000. The district bonding power must be raised from 3 per cent of the assessed value to 6 per cent. It required that the sanitary district put up $1,000,000 as a guarantee that it would stand its share of the cost of putting in compensating works to control lake levels.

This dictation in Chicago's domestic affairs was possible only because the secretary could say whether or not the city could have the $5,000 cubic foot of water a second required to prevent plague. It was the prevailing American opinion that machines do not change men. A French diplomat is not one man with another set of purposes in Geneva. Great Britain would not have Austen Chamberlain think only of the British empire in London and have Mr. Balfour forget all about Geneva. Mr. Brand cannot bind France in Geneva to something Mr. Herriot would not think of in Paris.

Chicago is the only lake city which is not polluting the lake. It keeps its water supply pure so far as it controls sources of pollution. That is only within its own area. Other cities and towns are pouring sewage and waste into the lakes. The sanitation congress held at East Chicago, Ind., discussed some of these plague spots.

Some of the water cribs in the southern Chicago section get this sewage and waste and the water has to be treated until it is nauseous. Indiana, as a decent neighbor and as a state alive to its own welfare, has ordered that all its cities stop sending sewage into the lake by the end of this year. Then we'll be clean to the south of us.

Mr. Weeks, in the interests of navigation, which other lake cities said were hurt by the Chicago withdrawal, has been drastic with this city. It is his duty to prevent the pollution of navigable streams. He can order all the American cities which are turning sewage and waste into the lakes and navigable water to stop it. Detroit is doing so and Canada is complaining.

The American war department under Mr. Weeks of New England treats Chicago, which alone obeys the laws of sanitation with a harshness that would cause international outcry if exercised by the French at Coblenz. But it lets all other cities poison the great lakes at will.

SATAN ON THE RUN.

Undoubtedly Mr. Bryan is in ecstasy. The reformation is not to the boom in Florida. It is the outlawing of Darwin which brings rapture.

That happened in Tennessee. The state senate there decided that Darwin's theory must not be taught in public schools and colleges in the state. It only remains for the governor to agree and it will become law. Other states in the hilltop belt have almost succeeded in passing similar laws, but so far as we know, Satan has always prevented. Now it appears the tempter is on the run. The seed sown by Mr. Bryan in his chautauqua lectures is yielding a hundredfold. Gather in the sheaves. If he got $500 per talk it was cheap.

A splendid beginning, this in Tennessee. Once you start things down that way—Kluxism or hospitality—they spread. We can look ahead confidently to the passage of similar laws in neighboring states. Next will come legislation that the earth is flat, based on the fact that it's flat in Genesis and the Rev. Mr. Volvay's Zion. It isn't in Genesis, but it ought to be exactly three; two years in jail for any one who makes the little cartwheels in school buster their heads with the troubadour fraction.

"Hilliards at dawn shall hearken the wild geese to honking northward over Tennessee," wrote William Vaughn Moody. Wrong. The wild geese are finding the Tennessee climate exactly to their taste. They have taken possession. They do their honking in the statehouse.

YALE FOR SONS OF YALE GRADS.

Yale has adopted a new policy. In the selection for entrance preference will be given to the sons and grandsons of graduates. The limit for entrance is 200, and if the applications for the Yale family exhaust the annual quota some but Yale families will have sons in Yale.

A graduate's normal feeling is that his son should go to the school where he himself was a student. That is nearly always the case if the graduate's college life was pleasant. The old endowed schools are finding that they must limit the college body if they are to preserve their standards. A state university can expand to meet requirements. It has the advantages of a state behind it. The endowed school has greater limitations. It must study its costs and cut accordingly, expanding as it receives more gifts.

It is natural that the graduate should have first call for their sons and have the sons as the natural trustees of the family. America has quick, nervous, and responsive to everything new, will be the richer for some development of qualities of permanence.

THE FIGHT FOR RIGHTS.

A resolution for the redistricting of the state in obedience to the constitution to give Cook county its twenty last seats in the legislature has been introduced in the senate. It was tried in the house of representatives and was postponed. The regions which have these seats intend to keep them. Nullification of the constitution is one of the easiest things the downstate legislators can do and disregard of their oath of office is of no consequence.

This idea may prevail in the senate. This may be the final word of this session, but it may not be the end of the matter. The legislature which exists by defiance of the constitution is not a constitutionally composed body. It has no authority from the constitution because it does not constitutionally represent the state.

If it has no authority, coming from districts which have no legal existence, its acts may be invalid and of no effect. That will be tested in the courts, and if the state of Illinois finds that it has no appropriations for the conduct of institutions and for the work of the state the responsibility will be with the legislators who nullified the constitution. There is a remedy somewhere.

THE BRITISH TAKE THEIR HATS.

Austen Chamberlain's statement at Geneva of the British position in rejecting the protocol for the outlawing of war is regarded as taking away even the crutches of the league of nations. The British foreign secretary said that five years' experience had proved the league incapable of handling the affairs which were originally within its purpose.

The protocol for the creation of an aggressor against the world peace, either by economic pressure or by armed force, was sunk when the Japanese put through the exception that a war caused by such a domestic policy as the restriction of immigration should not be regarded as a war of aggression. The British dominions would not accept that.

Mr. Chamberlain made a conventional explanation of the league's failure, that the nonmembers, including Germany, Russia, and the United States, were too extensive and powerful to permit of success without them. Germany and Russia are not in the league by the decision of the league itself. The United States is not in by its own decision.

The United States was not necessary to a pan-European scheme any more than Europe is necessary to a pan-American scheme. Keeping the peace on a continent is in itself a large order. The league could not operate with Germany and Russia and could not operate without them. It would not let them in, and finds in its refusal its own failure.

It was the prevailing American opinion that machines do not change men. A French diplomat is not one man with another set of purposes in Geneva.

Great Britain would not have Austen Chamberlain think only of the British empire in London and have Mr. Balfour forget all about Geneva. Mr. Brand cannot bind France in Geneva to something Mr. Herriot would not think of in Paris.

The United States did not cause the league to fall, but it knew it would.

REGISTERED GERM SALES.

Though action by the city council toward the control of the sale of germs may not be very effective in the long run, it indicates at least that a danger is appreciated which may become serious in time.

Germs are a new way to crime and destruction. Sale of dangerous germs for experimental or medical purposes should not be restricted. But sale to unknowns and unregistered persons should not be allowed. The best control of germ sales will be in complete registration of all buyers and sellers.

THE BOYS IN THE BACK ROOM.

The American war department under Mr. Weeks of New England treats Chicago, which alone obeys the laws of sanitation with a harshness that would cause international outcry if exercised by the French at Coblenz. But it lets all other cities poison the great lakes at will.

SATAN ON THE RUN.

Editorial of the Day

NOT MERELY THE LYNNING OF A NEGRO.

(Columbus [Ga.] Enquirer-Sun)

There seems to have been no attempt on the part of those taking part in the burning at the stake of a Negro at Rocky Ford, in this state, a few days ago, to conceal their identity. According to an Associated Press report of the deplorable affair "there was no disorder" and men widely known in the community were in the mob, there being not the slightest attempt at concealment.

It is true that the offense of which the Negro was guilty was worse than merely vicious or brutal or heinous—but not so much how drastically the crime, the mob had no legal right to lynch him. The law's provisions are sufficient to take care of this or any other case.

The law provides for the death penalty in such cases, and in disregarding the law the mob defied constituted authority and each one broke faith with the others.

No one will waste any sympathy on the worse than heinous life was taken, but the mob's intent to expose the intelligence and the civilization of those who outraged and violated the law of the land. If the men who make the laws and the laws are made by white men—will not abide by them how can they expect others who have nothing to do with their making to have a proper regard for them?

The Negro's death will not come in life; but the action of the mob set free a bad community a spirit of lawlessness—which will live for many years.

The act the Negro was innocent and brutal, the act of the mob—brutal and lawless. The Negro failed to control his vicious passions; and the members of the mob just as completely lost control of all sense of law and order.

When the mob at Rocky Ford lynched the Negro—burned him at the stake—they also lynched the law. The governor has offered a reward for the arrest of any members of the mob. This is a futile gesture.

Participate will bring another. Before the deed is done in the time for justice—another, a repeat for law, and an example of several governments and no swerving justice as is needed in our state. Today such inspirations do not exist in Georgia.

It is natural that the graduate should have first call for their sons and have the sons as the natural trustees of the family. America has quick, nervous, and responsive to everything new, will be the richer for some development of qualities of permanence.

ACID IN BABY'S MILK.

THE question that when cow's milk is acid and whether it should first be made acid is rather revolutionary. There are people who never give a baby cow's milk without first adding lime water to it. There are not as many in this group as there once were, but it is still true that in nearly half of the houses where the baby gets cow's milk the milk bottle and the lime water bottle sit side by side and when mother reaches for one with her right hand her left goes after the other.

This idea may prevail in the senate. This may be the final word of this session, but it may not be the end of the matter. The legislature which exists by defiance of the constitution is not a constitutionally composed body. It has no authority from the constitution because it does not constitutionally represent the state.

If it has no authority, coming from districts which have no legal existence, its acts may be invalid and of no effect. That will be tested in the courts, and if the state of Illinois finds that it has no appropriations for the conduct of institutions and for the work of the state the responsibility will be with the legislators who nullified the constitution. There is a remedy somewhere.

REPLY.

It is not. There is electricity everywhere. When conditions are at best it may be freely available to us to distribute it perfectly.

In winter transmission facilities are not good. Electricity finds some difficulty in being evenly distributed. That accounts for sparking. Beyond that, sparking means nothing. It calls for no treatment. It does not mean that the person who sparks needs electricity, or has any surplus of it, or is in any way diseased or peculiar.

DIET FOR ALBUMIN.

C. H. writes:

1. What is albumin?

2. Can it be cured by diet?

REPLY.

I judge you mean albumin in the urine. This condition is known as albuminuria. In a general way most people know it as Bright's disease.

Now, up to a certain point, the protein diet depends on the kind of Bright's disease.

The method of preparation employed in the hot milk and the sirup is added to the diet the proportion of corn syrup is increased.

Sometimes fed by other methods get in trouble because their mothers do not decrease the sugar in the milk when the baby begins eating cereal or bread.

CAUSE OF FEVER BLISTER.

J. M. writes: Will you kindly advise what is the cause of, also prevention for, fever blisters?

I am to be subject to them and have them frequently.

Am careful of my diet.

FEVER BLISTER.

Mrs. F. B. writes: My husband, 54, has had a fever blister on his nose for a week.

He has been to a doctor, who says he has high blood pressure.

Will you kindly let me know how he can reduce his blood pressure?

REPLY.

He is too fat! Let him reduce.

Is he constipated? Let him correct that.

What are his bad habits? Let him correct them.

What symptoms has he?

Is he Bright's disease or rickets?

It is important to know.

HULL DECLARES BRITAIN IS LAKES WATER DICTATOR

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special]—The time has come when antagonism should cease in the waterway fight in Illinois, according to a plea prepared by Representative William E. Hull (Rep., Ill.) and published in the Congressional Record.

"We should get together to all aid to all," Mr. Hull continues. "It should provide for the elimination of anomalies from the Great Lakes," he says. "He principally upon the United States side, and still we have Great Britain, through the Canadian government, dictating to us how much water shall be taken from the lakes, and when with extreme greed they have taken the lion's share of the water."

BRAWL LEADS TO FATAL SHOT; ASSAILANT HELD

(Picture on back page.) A brawl furnished the background for the slaying early yesterday of Louis Cella, 29, of 58 West Schiller street, by Philip Edwards, 27, according to Chicago avenue police. Cella recently was held for questioning in connection with a jewel robbery at the Savoy hotel.

"It seems Cella and Edwards were merely casual acquaintances and happened by chance to meet in a restaurant," Police Captain Murphy said. "Both had been drinking. One word brought on another. Edwards ran up to his room and got a gun. A few moments later, when the quarrel was renewed on the sidewalk, Edwards fired and Cella fell."

Edwards was captured a block away. He died at the Passavant hospital.

INDIFFERENCE OF VOTERS SCARES PARTY LEADERS

New York, March 15.—A movement intended to stimulate participation in party politics by all American citizens was announced today by the National Civic Federation.

That body has formed a non-partisan department on political education, with Elihu Root, an honorary chairman and Alton B. Parker, as active chairman.

The announced purpose of the department on political education will be: "To aid in checking the growing indifference of our citizens to the value and necessity of party government; to impress upon them, the vital need for the conscientious discharge of their duties as citizens, if the principles underlying our institutions are to be maintained and progress gained toward better and more efficient government."

The announcement states that the neglect of voters peril the American system of government.

REP. W. E. HULL: "The time has come when antagonism should cease in the waterway fight in Illinois, according to a plea prepared by Representative William E. Hull (Rep., Ill.) and published in the Congressional Record.

"We should get together to all aid to all," Mr. Hull continues.

"The Great Lakes," he says, "He principally upon the United States side, and still we have Great Britain, through the Canadian government, dictating to us how much water shall be taken from the lakes, and when with extreme greed they have taken the lion's share of the water."

Yet Japan can boast of no such plums as may be found in sunny California;

And the choicest of them all are grown on the private estate of Colonel Sykes,

And transformed, with the aid of the sun, into the most delicious prunes in the world.

Notes of the New in the French and Debutante Salons

EVEN the casual observer will see at once the season's penchant for combining fabrics—felt with straw, with silk, with braid; novelty straws with silks and ribbon. And there's the very Parisian liking for the lighter straws and hair braids.

High colors and cool ones that suggest summer; bows, touches of metal, pert feathers; wide brims and very tiny shapes—you will see them all. The model pictured, hand fashioned by one of our designers, is of parabunt straw with burnt ostrich.

Introducing Among Other Novelties, The Bolero

FRANCE TO ENTER DISARM PARLEY IF IT GETS PACT

Wants Assurance First of Security.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Paris, March 15.—The French representative of President Coolidge's sound-men in Europe concerning a new disarmament conference is clearly favorable with reservations.

Official circles consider acceptance of the presidential invitation to a conference certain, but point out a series of circumstances which indicate that such a conference in the immediate future is not likely to yield serious results. The first of these circumstances is the impossibility of any French government making important reductions in the military and air establishments until some form of security pact is adopted by the western European powers.

While this is not a prerequisite, it is considered so closely allied to the question of disarmament that compromise on the two subjects must take place at the same time, otherwise France runs the risk of reducing armaments alone and being left to hold the sack with Germany openly preparing for war

a few miles away.

Expect Britain to Push Pact.

It is expected that England will realize the importance of this to France and push the security negotiations so as to bring some tangible results, guaranteeing the French territory against other German aggression before asking

France to disarm.

If a security pact is adopted within the next three months France is willing to go into a disarmament conference, but will ask that the agenda take some recognition of the fact that France's problems are different from those of the other powers.

France has nearly as much coast line as England and yet France has a small, antiquated fleet which is permanently restricted by the terms of the Washington naval agreement.

Another reservation—which very likely will be dropped before the preliminary conversations are finished—concerns the air force, which constitutes France's greatest military superiority. The present government, however, would see no disadvantage in the adoption of a percentage system for air force provided that of protection is not inferior to that of any other power. The government does not desire to defend the theory that France should have a greater air force than any other power.

Offers a Bargaining Medium.

It is realized that no disarmament can succeed without France's cooperation and the Herriot government welcomes the chance to use this

BOOK 4 YOUTHS FOR ROBBERIES ON SOUTH SIDE

After holding four so-called abel-bands incommunicado for twenty-four hours, the Woodlawn police booked them yesterday on a long string of charges, including highway robbery and burglary. The total loot is estimated variously from $75,000 to $100,- 000.

All day yesterday and until late at night victims of the gang, described as one of the slyest ever uncovered on the south side, poured into the pockets and went out.

Woodlawn station and identified the robbers until the latter were so tired they couldn't stand up.

Highway robbery of women, burglary in a chain of grocery stores, robberies, the looting of a postal substation, and many vestibule robberies are charged to the four.

They were booked as Harold Whittaker, known as The Duke, Richard Thompson, Robert Melchior, and George Mollis. They are from 23 to 29 years old. For eight months they have occupied the largest and most expensive suite in the Southmoor hotel, 67th street and Story Island avenue. By day they pose as young business men, but when darkness came they stuffed their guns and masks into their pockets and went out.

HERRIOT CALLS CARDINALS' ACT BLOW AT NATION

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
PARIS, March 15.—Premier Herriot characterized the attitude of the cardinals and archbishops of France concerning public schools as "criminal" today in a speech at the inauguration of a monument to Jean Jaures, a moderate Socialist, in his home village of Castres.

The premier was expected to take up the whole religious issue, discuss the official pronouncement of the cardinals and archbishops, and attack Bishop Bisch of Alais for calling a strike of the school children against "interconfessional" education.

Not Seeking Open Fight.

Instead of tackling the problem openly, however, the premier only referred to the church and state dispute by saying:

"It was not this noble Jaures who would have uttered those criminal words we heard the other day," referring to the cardinals' instructions to all Catholics to disobey the secularization laws.

In further references the premier labeled the religious agitation as "destructive to the republican institution" and said the sectarian leaders were putting the affairs of the French church above the interests of France. The speech evidenced a sincere desire to avoid an open battle on the church question, as pressure had been brought to bear on the premier.

School Strike on Today.

The school strike in Alsace begins tomorrow, and the debate on the government's policy on public education begins Tuesday, when M. Herriot's first opportunity to answer the attack of the cardinal will come.

There is evidence that the government is now hedging, and would be willing to find a middle ground if possible, as it is within easy possibility that the senate may overthrow the government when the question of relations with the Vatican comes to a vote.

Meanwhile the ministerial press is demanding that the government cut off all salaries of Alsatian prelates who still are paid by the government under the Napoleonic concordat, which long since has been abolished elsewhere in France.

MEXICO TURNS SEIZED CHURCH INTO A SCHOOL

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Cable address: MEXICO CITY, Chicago Tribune.]
Mexico City, March 15.—The decision of President Calles, ousting the Roman Catholic secessionists from the Temple of La Soledad, is considered a victory for the nationalist church movement. The Roman church loses one of the richest, oldest, most largely attended churches in America.

La Soledad now becomes a school for the masses in a most populous section in the city. The Catholic church, that other churches will also be taken, are planning to restrict the number of houses of worship.

A prominent member of the national church movement said: "State governments, including Puebla, Tlaxcala, Jalisco, and San Luis Potosi, are planning to restrict the number of priests one-half or more. The national church movement is directed against the continuation of foreign priests who we feel have never understood the needs of Mexico. We are determined that our church will be national in feeling and aims."

"The Mexican law permits only state marriages. Throughout the interior of Mexico the majority of marriages are illegal and the children illegitimate because the priests ignore the marriage law."

"Breakin' Calles' decree makes it possible to reach offenders against this law, but, in view of them, of churches, which are national property."

It is reported that the national Catholics will be given Santa Teresa, one of the oldest and most historic churches, situated in the center of the city.

U.S. TO PUT FALL ON STAND, BUT HE MAY NOT TESTIFY

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 15.—[By the Associated Press.]

The first intimation as to whether Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, will testify for the government in the Teapot Dome suit here was made today by Mr. Fall's attorney, Henry A. Wise.

"Will the government have Mr. Fall on the stand for any length of time or will his examination be brief?" Mr. Wise was asked.

"The government will have him on the stand but not for long," was the attorney's reply.

This was taken by Mr. Wise's hearers to mean the former secretary might stand on his constitutional right and refuse to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

Calles Ends Car Strike; Mexico City Again Rides

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
Mexico City, March 15.—The street cars here resumed service this morning, the trainway company bowing to President Calles' dictum that it must recognize the union, which called the strike.

"Majestic...Beautiful...without a Peer!"

TRIBUNE TOWER stands on an avenue of temples, majestic, beautiful, without a peer!

Here is a flower in stone and steel, of perfect architectural beauty.* Know this, that Tribune Tower was built without thought of cost. The best materials procurable anywhere in the world went into its making, because it was meant to stand forever . . . we have gone to Canada for flawless granite, to Italy for incomparable marble, to Mexico for rich dark mahogany, and the forests of America have furnished their lustrous black walnut. Solid bronze is here, such as the doges lavished on their Venetian palaces . . . and hand-forged wrought iron of which medieval craftsmen could be proud.

Those executives who secure offices in Tribune Tower can refer to their business location with the same justifiable pride with which they refer to the community in which they live, to the school which their children attend, the country club to which they belong and the fine car which they drive.

CHILEAN LABOR SEEKS IMPROVED LIVING STANDARD

Nitrate Fields Open Way for Workers.

BY JOSEPH PIERSON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 14.—[By Mail.]—The recent military coup in Chile has merely the landmarks of a social evolution. The working classes are making an organized move for a higher standard of living. It is of first importance in the history of Chile. They elected the Santiago lawyer, Alessandri, four years ago as president, and in the elections of a year ago they drove the conservatives from their last constitutional entrenchment in the government—the senate.

The leisure class has resisted this movement. For more than a century it has held almost undisputed sway over the country. It virtually monopolized the rich concessions and the best farming lands. It was that its sons officered the army and navy. It resisted the movement of the working classes for higher wages.

Farm Pay $4 to $7 a Month.

The average wage of the 200,000 farm laborers of Chile is from $0 to $2 pesos a month ($0 to $7 United States gold). The highest wages paid only for laborers who provided a pair of oxen. In extremely rare cases, where the laborer took on other duties of a managerial nature, he received 100 pesos ($11) a month. He had to feed his oxen and his family out of this. His patron usually provided him with a plate of beans at noon. He provided for himself in the morning and evening.

The patron, however, looked after him when he was ill, buried him when he died if he was poor, as usually was the case, and even took care of him if he were disabled or had trouble with the police. This care extended to the family. The living conditions of the Chilean laborer are not as bad as those of the Indians of Bolivia and Peru, but the Chilean is a better worker, industrious, alert, and intelligent.

Chilean Laborer White.

The Chilean laborer is in major part white. He originated in the Basque provinces of Spain, from which the landholders also came. There is a faint touch of the Moor and the Chilean Indian in his blood, but his characteristics are Spanish. Although he likes to demonstrate in the streets of cities and listen to the harangues of the bolshevik agitators, he is in the main a thoughtful and fair conservative.

The nitrate development started a competition with the farms and ranches for labor. The young men left the farms for the nitrate fields. As the nitrate exploitation increased wages increased and the concentration of men increased.

Today 50,000 men are employed in the nitrate developments. They receive about $1 (United States) a day and lodging for themselves and families. Some of them get promotions and receive more money. Among them, especially after the establishment of the socialist government in Russia, appeared agitators, a few of them from Russia, but most of them ambitious fellows from among their own ranks.

FALL CAUSES DEATH.

Injuries suffered March 12, when he fell from an elevated structure at Niles Center, from the roof of the Palace Hotel, 1100 Marion Grove, Ill., in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, yesterday.

Coats

Flare without fullness is the fashion creed of coats this spring. And they go full length to accomplish this. One of black Kasha and satin ripples all around. This has a separate collar of fur to match the border.

A Gold-tinged Tan Cloth Makes the Coat Which Flares Into a Deep Border Band of Natural Fitch

That's the coat for women sketched at the left. Another, of ottoman silk heavily embroidered in braid and edged with baby fox, brings a unique note of richness to this spring's fashions.

Coats for misses achieve this flare with a group of pleats whose folds are extended at the hem by a band of ring-tail opossum fur. Sketched right, below. According to style, $65 to $275.

Fourth Floor, North and South.

Shoes

They keep pace with style, combining colors and leathers. There's the sparkle of a buckle here, the flutter of a ribbon tie there. And always a charming grace of line.

Third Floor, South.

Suits

With spring, the ensemble suit comes upon a new phase. There is a grace, a softened line that has its source as much in the lightsome character of the fabrics as in the smart new styles.

An Ensemble in Gray

A Frock Over Pale Rose
And Both of Georgette Crepe

This is the woman's suit sketched at the right. Then there's a suit of ottoman silk. The coat with a rippled inset at the side, banded with "orchid" fox. And even in the simpler fashions this lighter note is sounded.

So with the new season the charm and adaptability of this type of suit's importance in the spring outfit is demonstrated anew. Priced according to kind, $85 to $295.

Spring Opening 1925

With this event the ways open to a new fashion season. A season marked by modes with a quality one might almost term rhythmic, so exquisite is the blending of fabric and line, the merging of color and decoration. In such a season the selection which guides the assembling of fashions here proves its high art. For every frock, coat, suit, hat, every accessory of dress, is expressive of this fine harmony which is the mode.

Opening Week presentation begins Monday, March sixteenth, and continues throughout the week. To choose now assures a distinguished success....

Frocks and Spring Accord in Mood

It's an accord reflected in the airy loveliness of laces, the pale pink tints borrowed from the first blossoms of spring and translated into the chiffons and crepes that make the new frocks. The same lightsomeness is told in black chiffon posed over the Pompadour crepe of a summer evening frock for women. Or, one that a young girl may choose, of white chiffon luminous with silvered lace. Even in the daytime frocks, lace adds its grace and color lends its allure to soft silks and crisp taffetas. Prices vary with the style, $50 to $250.

Fourth Floor, North and South.

Negligees

Each law unto itself. One finds beauty in trailing chiffons. Pajama-negligees take inspiration from the glamorous fashions of the Orient. Painted negligees are like tropic birds. Accordingly, $19.75 to $85.

Third Floor, North.

Lingerie

An elaboration of garniture—detailed, yet applied with such finesse that it gives "line" to lingerie. On some, lace makes panels or godets. On others are touches of hand-work. According to kind, $12.75 to $67.50.

Third Floor, North.

Furs

Peltries not used before and familiar skins in fascinating guises give to the furs for spring real "difference" and distinction. So a jacquette of dormouse—intricately patterned—takes a collar of snowy ermine. And pale beige guanaco (a lovely fur) blends its color with the graceful scarf of chiffon which it bands.

Fourth Floor, East.

Scarfs

They carry in their filmy folds the way to smartness—in silvered traceries on sea-blue chiffon. Others come to glistening ends in silken fringes. $5.95 to $9.50.

Fourth Floor, North.

The story is being told by young Dundridge, junior member of a New York firm of lawyers. Old Jerome Fosdick, one of the richest clients of the firm, invites Dundridge to look at his home. The young lawyer is interested in the old man's beautiful condominium at first, his sole heir. Fosdick tells Dundridge that his father, his only son, had spent many years in South America, where he died. After his death, his North American woman moved at the Fosdick house with baby Sara, whose mother, the nurse said, had died soon after the baby's birth. Fosdick had investigated the woman's story and found it to be true. After his death, Madam Adelbron, a famous psychic, calls on Fosdick and tells him she had been an intimate friend of Sara's mother in Buenos Aires, when Sara was an infant, and all her jewels and a large sum of money. When she returned to Buenos Aires, Madam Adelbron was dead and her memory had faded. She had been Jim Curran in those days and she demands that Fosdick return her jewels and the money with interest. Fosdick refuses and makes some reference to a secured Spanish which obviously frightens her. A few days later the old man is found dead in his car. The car is in the hands of Police Inspector Curran. Dundridge tells him about Madam Adelbron's demands and informs him that the medium had carried with her a list of jewels which had belonged to Sara's mother and written in the latter's handwriting, identical to a list in Sara's possession. Dundridge is able to have Fosdick's safe—which contains important letters—opened. It is found that Captain and Mrs. Dundridge have been over to the Fosdick house and the letters are missing. The lawyer is outraged. He calls on Madam Adelbron, the famous psychic, and the old man's secretary, Miss O'Connor. Both have good alibis. Adelbron, a famous criminal lawyer, is Adelbron's attorney. He invites Dundridge to come to his office and there informs him that the client is about to sue him for the money and jewels she claims she left with Sara's mother. Madam Smith, a reporter who had covered the Fosdick death for her paper, tells Dundridge she saw Sara in a room in the Fosdick house the day before her death. She also says that she will meet with harm. Dundridge goes to the Fosdick house to warn her. While he is there, he receives a telephone call that Herbert has been killed on the street between the Fosdick house and the office of the Daily News. Dundridge goes to the office of the Daily News and finds that Herbert has been killed. Dundridge goes to the Fosdick house and finds that Herbert has been killed on the street between the Fosdick house and the office of the Daily News. Dundridge locates a cousin of De Guzman in New York, who agrees to tell him and Curran what he knows of Adelbron's connection with the family of Eugenio de Guzman.

INSTALLMENT XXXVII.

MARANA TELLS A STORY.

Marana then told us of the wicked influence Adelbron had developed over Donna Inez de Guzman and later over her husband, Eugenio. Estrella, the daughter, opposed her, and to be revenged the charlatan poisoned the minds of the parents against Estrella. The girl finally ran away from home. For more than a year she lived in seclusion with an old nurse. Then she met young Fosdick, who married her and took her away.

"In an effort to prevent a reconciliation with her parents," Marana said, "Adelbron did something diabolical. She searched the stuns of Barcelona until she found a girl who resembled Estrella. After coaxing her she sent her into the vildest resorts of the town of Estrella de Guzman. The impostor, after becoming implicated in some robberies was forced to leave Madrid, and Adelbron cunningly had a report circulated that she had married a Yankee and had gone to South America. Thus she made it impossible for the real Estrella to return home. Overcome by grief, Donna Inez committed suicide and Adelbron aspired to become the wife of Eugenio. But before that was accomplished the dancing girl who had masqueraded as Estrella made a dying confession that the actress was responsible for the deception. Eugenio's eyes were at last opened to the wickedness of Adelbron, and after forcing her to return the money she had obtained from him he compelled her to leave the country. To publish the truth, would merely revive the scandal and Prime took up his duty of protection; he remained the world and entered the Fugitive order. Two years ago Eugenio died.

"But I beseech you, do not disturb her."

He was so stirred by his memories that he might have gone on talking indefinitely, if we had not made the excuse of business and left. He was on fire to get to Sara, and tell her of her newly discovered relative, and his story, called a taxi cab, and told the driver to lose no time in getting us up town.

At Fifty-ninth street we were stopped for a few moments by the cross-town traffic, our cab in a press of other vehicles, but at last the yellow go-ahead signal flashed on, and we started.

Just then I leaned forward to tell the driver that we might make better time on Park avenue, and as I did so, I heard something whiz past my ear.

Involuntarily I turned, and saw sticking in the side of Curran's upturned face a heavy overcoat collar a slender silver of the collar. Later, when I had reached out and jerked the collar from Curran's collar. Later, when I had time to think about it, I was thankful that it was on my sleeve.

"Don't be perturbed," I said. "It pierced one fold of your collar and was embedded in another. It couldn't possibly have scratched the skin."

"My God!" he said. "It was meant for you. If it had been me, they would have sliced from this side of the car. Of course, you didn't see the cab it came from."

He didn't wait for my answer, but pushed aside the window, and gave the driver the address of Adelbron's apartment.

"I went to hell with traffic regulations. I'm Inspector Curran. Get me there."

Building under the pillars of the elevated, we skidded into the cross street and down up before the apartment house. Inside, we did not wait for the elevator, but ran up the stairs and rapped sharply on the door.

It opened a crack, exposed on the inside by a chain, and showed the startled face of the French maid.

"The inspector of the police," Curran thrust the fact upon her at once. "Open the door. I want to see Madam Adelbron."

She slipped the chain, and Curran pushed past her; his hand was already on the knob of the inner door of the vestibule, when she clung to his arm.

"We rooms madam suddenly from her trance might have consequences the same outcome. If madam insists, I will show him madam, but I beseech you, do not wake her."

He scurried ahead of us through what was apparently a drawing room, and passed before a door which led into the room beyond. Then, with fingers to his lips, she softly opened it.

With her favorite, purple velvet billowing about her, the medium lay back upon her chair asleep, as the maid claimed, in a trance. Her broad, dark face, with its thick nostrils and fleshy rolls of flesh was turned toward us, slightly, and it was unmistakable.

Curran frowned, disappointed and nonplussed, and took a step forward into the room. But at that moment, the sleeping woman began to move. Her eyes were written as it in pain, her chest heaved convulsively, her head rolled from side to side.

"She beckoned to me to it, some way," he muttered. "Come on, Dundridge."

Dundridge stopped to speak to the elevator boy.

"Any seven room apartments vacant?"

"Yes, sir; only fours and fives."

The Inspector told our cab driver to take us to the nearest drug store, he wanted to telephone; and, as we started off he gave a quick nod as if some one had heard him.

"It had been confirmed."

"I thought so," he said. "That house has been all cut up, and rearranged. And we might provide an exit or an entrance that we have nothing about. Some one is shooting these poison darts. Who? I don't believe himself. It must be someone else. And how, watched as she is, does she communicate with a murderer?"

The cab had stopped before the drug store, and as we crossed the sidewalk he explained his anxiety to get to the nearest telephone booth.

"We are going to call up then, and tell him to comb over that place immediately and what you are at that," I said. "I will call up Miss Fosdick and also Lord Harry. These recent developments seem to call for a conference, don't you think?"

When I came out of the booth, Curran was standing in the door looking down the street.

"Lord Smith?" he asked as we proceeded up town.

"Yes; he may be a little delayed, but he will be there; and Miss Fosdick has been confirmed."

"And just before I reached the house I got his reluctant promise to say something about the dart which had been shot at me, and had barely missed him."

"And had Sara's husband a too bold moment, my heart aches a quick three times."

"And while you are at that," I said. "I will call up Miss Fosdick and also Lord Harry. These recent developments seem to call for a conference, don't you think?"

ARMOUR REPORT SHOWS 33% GAIN IN NET PROFITS

BY O. A. MATHER.

Armour & Co. last year continued its rapid improvement from the depression period. Efficiency and economy in the conduct of the business are shown from the fact that although gross sales of $800,000,000 were about the same as in 1923, net profits increased nearly 33 per cent.

"While earnings for 1924 greatly exceeded those of the preceding year, they do not reflect a return to normality of the business," President F. Edison White says in his annual report.

"Operations in fertilizer and leather lines, which have been below normal for several years, may be expected soon to resume their share in producing profits. The year 1925 opened under favorable circumstances. Our inventories are normal and conservatively priced. Consumption of our products continues in large volume and present conditions point to a continued satisfactory business."

Net Profits Over $16,000,000.

Net profits for 1924, after charges and taxes, were $15,569,723, equivalent to preferred dividends of $4.50 a share on the $30,000,000 class A common stock of $25 par value, or to $2.32 a share on the combined class A and B common shares, the latter also being $50,000,000 and $25 par value.

Surplus for the year was $9,018,445, bringing total surplus to $54,897,152. Net profits in 1923 were $12,772,028 and there was a surplus of $4,414,461 after preferred dividends. The financial statements, with comparisons, follow:

WHEAT MARKET OVERSOLD, VIEW OF SOME EXPERTS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The wheat market has passed from an overbought to an oversold condition with a decline of 40¢ on May, 2¢ on July and 20¢ on September in two weeks.

The losses were the most drastic that the traders have known in so short a period under peace conditions.

Foreigners have put on millions of bushels of hedges against purchases of wheat on ocean passage from the southern hemisphere to Europe. Big speculative shorts are said to have sold millions of bushels, with those who are in Florida taking the lead.

It is understood that the largest holders of May wheat have been liquidated, and that there is enough wheat sold for export between now and the end of May to give leading holders of May contracts a position which may make it uncomfortable for the shorts when they start to cover and the hedgers try to buy in their grain, as it is disposed of abroad. The situation, as understood by those who have made a careful survey, is not a pleasant one for the shorts.

Farm &amp; Mill Stocks Low.

The traders last week had the report on farm reserves and country elevator and mill stocks of wheat showing about as expected, yet the prices declined, although in the previous week advanced in expectation of a bullish showing.

The total supply of wheat in the United States on March 1 was 255,000,000 bu, but against 260,000,000 bu last year, and 216,000,000 bu three years ago, while in 1922 they were 255,000,000 bu.

Yet in the face of this showing, prices dropped 27¢, touching $1.85 on Saturday, the lowest in more than three months, with the close at $1.85¢ on May, $1.81¢ on July, and $1.45¢ for September, the latter showing a net loss for the week of 7¢, while the other futures were off 11¢.

Statistics prove that some of the local experts since the United States has a domestic basis, as the decline has made United States wheat cheaper than Argentina.

There has been a larger evening up of trades as the result of the liquidation and decline than for many months in the face of record sales of futures on Friday at 149,839,000 bu. The aggregate sales for the week ended Friday night were 52,464,000 bu, compared with 53,852,000 bu the previous week.

Crop Scare Season Here.

The crop scare season is at hand, and there has been some damage to winter wheat in the southwest and middle west, but it is too early to make definite calculations.

The condition of the crop in consuming regions is slightly above the average, while in the producing sections it is slightly below.

The acreage in winter grains, as given by the government's foreign crop and market reports, in fifteen countries is 122,328,000 acres, against 119,553,000 acres last year, an increase of 4.3 per cent over last year. The acreage in twelve countries is 77,322,000 acres, an increase of 5.1 per cent over last year. Prices in leading markets for the week follow:

Red Riot in Loop Theater Injures 20—Mrs. Ford and Thure Lindhe Arrested in Flat Raid

TRAPPED IN FLAT. Mrs. George Ford, widow of Oak Park, whose husband committed suicide because of the loss of her love, is arrested in Sheridan road love nest with former Oak Park policeman. (Story on page 1.)

ENTHUSIASTIC RIOTERS. Two young women who made so much noise and fought so eagerly against the anti-soviets that they were escorted outside theater. (Story on page 1.)

WHEN EVERYBODY THERE SAW RED. An anti-soviet demonstration in the Garrick theater yesterday afternoon developed into a first class riot, which lasted for more than an hour, while police fought with clubs to subdue the mob. Twenty persons were injured, many arrested. (Story on page 1.)

ALSO SEIZED. Thure Lindhe, who was arrested with Mrs. Ford in Sheridan road flat.

HIS FEARS WERE WELL FOUNDED. Thomas Condich, 2548 Princeton avenue, tried to jilt Mrs. Mary Fiore because she was "dangerous." She shot him twice. (Story on page 1.)
